

I am so sorry to learn that Ray has died.

He taught me so much. I spent so many long hours talking to him and he was always so happy to share his knowledge. I was just a French bloke who knew nothing and he was happy to talk to me forever. He changed my life. He was such an unbelievable source of knowledge, a great story teller, and above all such a cool guy.

Earlier tonight I bumped into Hervé Barbat in the local supermarket (one half of the legendary Barbat Bros. from Paris) and told him. He has known Ray since the 60's, and he was very moved when I told him the sad news.

Boy, I am really really feeling so sad. I loved Ray dearly.
